PROFILE

I am a junior developer with an eye for detail and a methodical approach to solving complex problems. Comfortable moving from a leadership role to a collaborative and valuable team member in a standard driven environment. Adaptable and experienced working in dynamic environments with continuous changes in scope and design. My positive, solution-oriented attitude makes me a valued coworker and team leader. I've always loved a challenge and enjoy sticking with it and seeing it through. Doing whatever it takes to get it done, brings tremendous satisfaction. After being given the opportunity to explore web development, I have found a medium that I love and am truly excited about. I look forward to many years, always developing.
